Set within the vibrant Falmouth community, these two plots of land at Roses Estate offer an incredible opportunity for building a dream Caribbean villa. With elevated views across the mountains and the ocean, the setting captures the best of both Antigua's natural beauty and practical convenience. Each plot features generous space and ideal positioning for creating a private residence that embraces the relaxed yet sophisticated lifestyle of the south coast.

From the land, the sea stretches into the horizon, with sailboats dotting the water and gentle hills rolling in the background. This blend of scenery provides a peaceful environment for everyday living while still being just minutes away from the action of English Harbour.
